Her Curtsy

THE SCHOOLMA'AM bows her thanks to all her friends, and fain would bring a bright and cheery greeting to each Shendo maid.

This year she comes not with a bouquet of blossoms, as in 1911, nor yet with the solid history study De Originibus of 1910.

It is geography that she presents this time; and, according to the most approved pedagogical methods, she does not go far from home for her material, but just asks her readers to look out of the windows at the fair land that lies about them. In these pages she has tried to give some hint of the wonderful beauty of this garden spot of Virginia—this Valley, the Daughter of the Stars, Shenandoah.

May all who now share in the life of Blue Stone Hill find in this book some pleasure, and may all who have left the Alma Mater read in it a message from home, is the sincere wish of the EDITORS.
