

1918?

My dear Mr. Burruss:

Miss Gregg gave me the money Friday
morning, and just to say "thank you" seems too mild after the way I acted when I received
it. Twenty-dollar
surprises don't often come my way. I can assure you, therefore

are all the more
acceptable.

Thanking you as
much for thinking of me as for the money, I
remain,

Yours truly,

Vada Whitelid.
