The President, having called attention to the approaching social and industrial conferences in Richmond, announced the topic for the evening, "What service should the normal school render to the town and city schools of Virginia?" The interest was directed specially toward the work of the grammar grades.

Since Professor W. H. Heck, of the University of Virginia, was present, he was called upon by President Burness to address the faculty upon the topic under consideration. His address was full of concrete illustrations and practical applications, and was listened to with much interest. He made a strong plea for better teaching in the grammar grades, and for the fuller developing and rounding out of the elementary school.

Professor Heck's address was followed by a lengthy general discussion, elicited largely by questions from Miss Gregg and Mr. Burness. In the discussion various related topics were introduced, for example: How far down in the grades should departmental teaching extend? Is it better to have seven grades or eight?

Adjourned at 9:45 to meet again, to continue the topic, on Thursday night, December 17.

John W. Wayland,
Secretary.

Minutes approved January 25, 1915.

PRIVILEGES GRANTED TO THE MEMBERS OF THE SENIOR CLASS
BY THE FACULTY, DECEMBER 3, 1914.

1. Seniors may leave the campus for the purpose of going to church, calling, shopping, walking, driving, attending social functions and entertainments, or dining out in private homes, without chaperonage and without securing the permission of the Matron, with the following provisions: (1) That their school work be not interfered with; (2) that the Matron be notified in case of prolonged absence; (3) that the Matron be informed if this occurs at night; (4) that two or more Seniors be together at night going to or from church, calling in private homes, and conferences with instructors; and that not less than three Seniors be together at night on trips down town for other purposes. (It is understood that under ordinary circumstances every Senior will return to her room not later than 9:30 p.m.); (5) that Seniors shall register in the usual way when leaving their rooming-places.
2. Seniors may have company on Friday and Saturday nights, a previous engagement having been made with the student, who shall inform the Matron.
3. Gentlemen may accompany Seniors to and from church, social functions, and entertainments, but no driving with gentlemen will be allowed except in cases of engagements made after consultation with the Matron.
4. Seniors may visit other students at their rooms during study hours, provided they do not interfere with the work of other students.
5. All examinations in Senior courses will be given one week in advance of the close of the session, in order to give time for preparations for Commencement.
6. In the case of students who are under age, if their parents or guardians make known their objections to any of these privileges being granted, the said privileges will not apply to such students.
7. Every member of the Senior class shall be, and is hereby, placed on her honor to conduct herself as she would in her own home and with all the dignity becoming a young woman. If any Senior shall abuse these privileges in any way she shall be reported to the President of the Senior Class, who shall call a meeting of the class, which, after hearing from all parties concerned, shall take such action as it sees fit.
8. In granting the above privileges, the Faculty reserves the right to withdraw any or all of the said privileges from any or all of the members of the Senior class, or to revise the said privileges in any respect, if in its judgment such action is advisable at any time. Students whose names appear on the official list of Seniors, and only these, shall be considered as constituting during any quarter the Senior Class, to whom these privileges are granted.

Julian A. Burruss,
President.

Thursday, December 3, 1914.

Faculty met in Room 29, Science Hall, at 4:45 p.m.
Present: Pres. Burness; Mrs. Brooke; Misses King,
Seeger, Lancaster, Mackey, Hoffman, Lida Cleveland, Sale, Gregg,
Bell, Leftwich, Annie Cleveland, Elizabeth Cleveland. Messrs. Smith, Johnston, Hartpole, Wayland. - Miss Hudson came in later.

Minutes of the meeting of November 16 were read and approved.

The President stated that the meeting was called specially to consider the Senior privileges. The list of privileged granted last year, with amendments as proposed by the present Senior class, was taken up for consideration.

The form of special privileges was amended in various particulars, and finally approved in the form herewith presented. - See opposite page.

Upon motion the following resolution was adopted, to be transmitted to the Senior Class:

"The Faculty wishes to express its gratification at the general attitude of the Senior Class, as indicated in their proceedings regarding special privileges requested, and takes occasion to give assurance that everything possible will be done to promote sympathetic and successful co-operation with the class."

After certain announcements regarding a lecture by Prof. Hall-Quest, an approaching meeting by the Board of Trustees, and the schedule of term-end examinations, the faculty adjourned at 6:25 p.m.

John Whayland,
Secretary.

Faculty met in Room 29, Science Hall, at 4:50 p.m.
Present: Pres. Burness; Mrs. Brooke; Misses King, Lucas,
Seeger, Gregg, Hoffman, Mackey, Sale, Bell; Messrs. Smith,
Johnston, Hartpole, Wayland; Miss Leftwich, Miss Elizabeth Cleveland, Miss ~~Hudson~~, George, ^{Miss} Hudson.

The President outlined the plans contemplated for entertaining the Board of Trustees upon their approaching visit to the school next Tuesday, December 15.

After discussion of various other subjects the faculty adjourned at 5:50 p.m.

Miss Lillian Millner, President of the Senior Class.

Dear Miss Millner:

The Faculty last evening, after acting upon the Senior privileges, passed the following resolution, which I take pleasure in transmitting to you.

"The Faculty wishes to express its gratification at the general attitude of the Senior Class, as indicated in their proceedings regarding special privileges requested, and takes occasion to give assurance that everything possible will be done to promote sympathetic and successful co-operation with the Class."

Very truly yours,

John W. Chapman,

Secretary of the Faculty.

Thursday, January 7, 1915.

Faculty met in Room 29, Science Hall, at 4:50 p.m.

Present: Pres. Burress; Mrs. Brooke; Misses King, Gregg, Headson, Bell, Lancaster, Hoffman, Mackey, Leftwich, Sale, Annie Cleveland, Elizabeth Cleland, Misses Johnston, Neatwole, Smiley, Wayland.

Minutes of the meetings of December 3 and December 11 were read and approved.

President Burress announced classes ^{for} next Saturday, following the Monday schedule; and Saturday, February 6, as the date for conditioned examinations. The President also announced various entertainments that have been arranged for the near future, and requested suggestions looking toward the selection of speakers for commencement.

The tardy return of certain students following the Christmas holidays. ^{was taken up} Some were excused for good and sufficient reasons. Miss Beulah Flick and Miss Lillian Fanch were reported absent on Tuesday, the first day of the quarter, without good excuse reported. The President undertook to interview these two young ladies, with a view to ascertaining whether they have good excuses or not. If not, they are to be brought before the faculty.

The plan of the publication committee for completing the make-up of the Schoolma'am staff was submitted. It was amended by reducing the number first elected by the student body from two to one ~ so as to keep the number of the staff at the number of twelve. The committee requested that members of the faculty make recommendations of students thought fit for a place on the annual staff, and suggested that these recommendations be handed in by the next evening - Friday evening, January 8.

The ^{President} made a report on the delinquent students as reported to him toward the end of last quarter, after comparison with the results as handed in following the term-end examinations, the purpose in view being the discovery of the best ways and means of helping weak students and of adjusting equitably the courses of study and the standards of grading to the conditions that have to be met. He suggested the desirability of a faculty meeting for the discussion of standards of grading.

Miss Bell suggested a plan for co-ordinating some library work with the work of the various departments, which received the hearty approval of the faculty.

Miss Gregg called attention to the need of calling the attention of certain girls to their silly conduct in their association with each other - the need for more dignity and seriousness in their general conduct and attitude toward their work.

Monday, January 25, 1915.

Faculty met in Room 15, Science Hall, at 7:30 p.m.

Present: Pres. Burress; Misses Scott, Lancaster, Elizabeth Cleveland, Annie Cleveland, Gregg, King, Seeger, Leftwich, Mackey, Hoffman, Hudson, Spilman, Leah Lynn, Lucy Lynn, (Hazel) Fay, Bell, Clarke, Sale, Beaman, Whitesell, Cadwallader, Moulton; Messrs. Keister, Johnston, Smithay, Heaton, Wayland. (Minutes of the meeting of November 30 were read and approved.)

Some special requests from the Senior Class, asking that special advisory committees of the faculty be designated for particular groups of students, were presented by the President and were discussed pro and con. The matter was referred to the committee on student government for full consideration and for a report as soon as possible. The particular sections of the communication that make reference to testimonials written by teachers for students were referred to the committee on appointments.

The topic carried over from the meeting of November 30 was taken up. Mr. Keister took up for discussion the service that the Normal should render to the town schools of Virginia. He suggested that the Normal school should lead out into the progressive future, specifying a number of concrete subjects that should be made familiar in a practical way. Obviously, the Normal school needs more time to do all the things that are desirable for its graduates. Vocational training, aesthetic development, and familiarity with all forms of equipment were mentioned as some of the things that the Normal school should give its pupils, or to the schools through its pupils.

Mr. Smithay took up for consideration the service that the Normal school should render to the city school - the city grammar school. After preliminary remarks he offered three definite suggestions: (1) that we arrange a course to prepare teachers to do work in the upper grades and in the first two years of the high school; (2) That we give more extended training in special subjects, like music and drawing, in order to prepare teachers of these subjects for the city high schools of Virginia; (3) That we consider the advisability of preparing critic teachers.

The secretary was instructed to notify the Senior Class that its communication was received and referred to appropriate committees.

Topic No. 5, page 364, was selected for discussion at the next meeting, February 22, and Miss King and Dr. Wayland were appointed to open the subject.

Faculty met in Room 29, Science Hall, at 4:45 p.m.

Present: President Burress; Mrs. Brooke, Misses Seeger, Hudson, Hoffmann, Lisa Cleveland, Mackey, Leftwich, Bell, Elizabeth Cleveland, Messrs. Johnston, Smith, Hartwale, Wayland; Miss King, Fay, Sale.

Minutes of the meeting of January 7 were read and approved.

The President reported satisfactory interviews with Miss Flick and Miss Lamb. — See page 379.

The President took up the application of the students for the right of self-government upon the basis of a constitution and by-laws which have been worked out during the past two or three years by the co-operation of the students and faculty. The committee on student government, having gone over the said constitution and by-laws very carefully, recommended their adoption.

After protracted consideration of the instruments in question, and after amending them further, they were adopted (or approved) by the faculty, and are to be referred to the student body in the revised form.

Faculty met in Room 15, Science Hall, at 7:30 p.m.
Present: Prof. Burress; Mrs. Brooke; Misses E. P. Cleeland, Annie Cleveland, King, Seeger, Mackay, Leftwich, Gregg, Clarke, Lida Cleveland, Spilman, Hoffmann, Hudson, Mackey, Bell, Dyer, Moulton, Cadwallader, Gale, Whitesel, Bowman; Misses Johnston, Heatwole, Smithay, Wayland.

Minutes of the meeting of January 25 were read and approved.

Committees that have special topics under advisement (see page 381) reported some progress in consideration of their respective topics, but neither committee was ready to make a definite recommendation.

Question No. 4, page 364, was selected for special discussion at the next general meeting of the faculty, March 22, 1915: Miss King & Miss Leftwich will lead.

Interesting reports were made by Professors Heatwole and Smithay of their observations at the N. E. A. meetings held last week in Cincinnati. Some of the particular points noted were the following:

1. Prof. Taft advocated a national university at Washington, developed upon the basis of the Federal Bureau of Education.

2. The 6+3+3 system is the coming scheme for this country.

3. High-school teachers should be half men (and half women), numerically.

Miss King opened the discussion of the special topic of the evening - No. 5, page 364. She was of the opinion that girls from tidelwater, or rural districts, to the higher lands and the mountains. She reported upon a very interesting canvass of her classes in the effort to ascertain the girls' opinions on various phases of the question, from which a number of practical suggestions were secured. Some of the suggestions would also have a decided value as applied to Question No. 7, page 364. A general discussion followed.

Dr. Wayland resumed the discussion of Question No. 5, illustrating his remarks by reference to the map of Virginia. Both he and Miss King were of the impression that, while each school ^{would} naturally be fed mainly from its own immediate territory, it is very desirable for each to draw in a measure from all sections of the State — this for the benefit of the pupils as well as for the benefit of the schools. — A general discussion followed.

Faculty met in Room 15, Science Hall, at 7:30 p.m.

Present: Pres. Burruss; Mrs. Brooke; misses Sale, E. P. Cleoland, Seeger, King, Mackay, Hoffman, Hudson, Scott, Cadwallader, Morton, Dyer, Clarke, Spilman, Fay, Mackay, Gregg; Messrs. Smith, Keister, Hartpole, Johnston, Wayland.

Minutes of the preceding meeting were read and approved, with slight corrections.

The committees to which special tasks were assigned (see page 381) reported that they were still studying the questions involved, and would be ready to report more definitely later. The President urged that reports be made, if possible, at the next (April) meeting.

The request of Miss Althea Adams, to be allowed to take work amounting to 35 points, was refused.

Miss Elizabeth Grewed's request, to be allowed to drop physical training, in order that she might be able to take up a class in the study of rural problems, was also refused.

The President announced that Good Friday will be observed as holiday.

A discussion of the handwriting of students elicited the fact that many of our students write much too carelessly, and that the several instructors should co-operate in all possible measures to cultivate more careful habits on the part of students, in respect to penmanship.

A suggestion was made to the effect that special lectures, open to the public, might be delivered by members of the faculty; but it seemed to be the consensus of opinion that it would be more desirable to invite lecturers from outside our own school to bring to us new ideas and facts.

Miss Sale, Miss Hudson, and Prof. Heatwole were appointed a special committee to devise ways and means for extending proper courtesies to the teachers and school officials who may be in attendance upon the approaching meeting, in Harrisonburg, of the Seventh Congressional District branch of the Virginia State Teachers' Association.

The special topic of the evening, No. H, page 364, was next taken up. Miss Lefkovich was not present, but her paper was in hand and was read to the faculty by Miss Sale. Miss Seeger followed with another most interesting and helpful paper. The general discussion following was participated in by Pres. Burress and others. The President announced his intention of offering certain vocational courses next year; and he also disclosed the fact that Prof. Johnston has already worked out in considerable degree new problems in chemistry and physics, involving the familiar substances of the kitchen and the practical machines of the household.

The next regular meeting was set for April 19. The problem, or question, of grading answers to questions, etc., was designated as the topic for special discussion at the next meeting; and Misses Elizabeth Cleveland, Clarke, Hoffman, and Prof. Heatwole were appointed to open the discussion.

Present: Pres. Burress; Mrs. Brooke; Misses Sieger, King, Hudson, Scott, Hoffman, Sale, Gregg, Bell, Mackey, E. P. Cleveland, Lefkovich; Messrs. Smith, Johnston, Heatwole, Wayland.

The minutes of February 18, 1915, were read and approved.

The President presented a request from the Executive Board of the Student Association, expressing the unanimous wish of the student body, for permission to change Section 14 of the By-Laws of the scheme of student self-government so as to make it read as follows:

"There shall be quiet in the buildings between two and four p.m. on Sunday afternoons. Anyone wishing to leave the buildings during this time must do so quietly."

The request was granted.

A note of thanks from Dr. C. Dickerson, regarding the aid given on "tag-day" to the colored sanatorium, was read.

The President announced that Dr. J. W. Wayland had been appointed to represent the School at the inauguration of President Graham of the University of North Carolina, April 21, 1915.

The Committee on Equipment submitted a report recommending that seats be placed around the buildings, under trees in the orchards, around the tennis courts, etc.

The President announced that to-morrow, Saturday, April 16, is the day when another report regarding delinquent students is due.

He also made an explanation regarding a letter that he had recently sent out to members of the faculty regarding the work for next session, suggesting certain modifications in the requests made.

The late return of certain students after the Easter holiday was briefly discussed, the opinion prevailing that excuses up to Monday noon may be allowed in all cases, and for a longer period in cases of detention by illness. Students not having valid excuses are to be marked down in their class grades, and are not to be given special work to make up deficiencies.

Registrar Smith reported that testimonials for the graduating students are coming in with more promptness than usual.

Miss Fay and Miss Lida Cleveland came in at 5:57 p.m.

After certain announcements by the President regarding the courses for next year, he stated that Rev. Chas. R. Stribling of Petersburg will preach the commencement sermon and that Mr. Fairfax Harrison, president of the Southern Railway, will deliver the annual address.

It was stated that the Ben Greet Players will give three plays here the last part of May.

Miss Elizabeth Cleveland made a brief report regarding the material going in for the annual, and Prof. Johnston reported that he had already received about 140 favorable replies to his prospectus concerning the proposed school magazine.

An encouraging report concerning the literary societies was submitted.

The President announced a course on international conciliation, to be given in the summer quarter, by Dr. Frank A. Magruder, by virtue of aid provided by a department of the Carnegie Foundation.

Minutes of the meeting of Mar. 22 were read and approved.

The Report of the Committee on Student Government relative to the request of the Senior Class asking for special advisory committees was read by the president. The report contained many suggestions, but no definite recommendations were made. It was moved that the advisory system was discussed pro and con. It was moved that the report be tabled, and this motion carried.

The report of the committee on appointments was read by Mr. Smalley relative to that part of ^{the} request of the Senior Class (See page 881) ~~re~~ concerning testimonials. The Committee was of the opinion that it would not be advisable to allow the members of the Senior Class to see the testimonials written by the members of the faculty. The report was accepted.

The special topic set for the evening, "Grading" was next taken up. The topic was introduced by Miss Hoffman. Miss Hoffman's discussion was very interesting. She had Several diagrams on the blackboard to illustrate the points she discussed.

The topic was continued by Miss Spiller. She told of a recent experiment she had made in her schoolroom to ascertain the amount of work each pupil could do. Miss Clarke continued the discussion of the evening by with a wee written paper. Mrs. Elizabeth Cleveland closed the discussion.

No specific topic ^{was} assigned for the next regular ~~the next regular~~ meeting, ^{which} will be on May 24.

Present: Pres. Barratt; Mrs. Brooke; Misses E. P. Cleland, Annie Cleveland, Geiger, King, Bell, Gregg, Mackey, Hudson, Fay, Hoffman, Gale, Leftwich; Messrs. Johnston, Smith, Keats, Wayland.

Minutes of April 15, 1915, were read, amended, and approved as amended.

In the course of the discussion of the approaching examinations, the President requested that lists of questions for the state examinations, to begin here in June, be prepared for approval by the state department and be handed to him not later than Monday, May 10. Certain changes in the usual plan for the Senior examinations were agreed upon, with a view to a better adjustment; and Thursday and Friday, May 27 and 28, were fixed upon as the days for the Senior examinations.

The program of exercises for commencement was reviewed, in the effort to get the copy in final shape for the engravers.

The list of candidates for graduation was next taken up for inspection and approval, the aim being to determine whose names should be allowed to go on the commencement invitations. Several names were questioned, and one or two were definitely omitted.

The President called attention to the work being undertaken by Miss Gregg and the critic teachers of the training school in the effort to revise the course of study for the training school and bring it up to date in every respect, and urged that every possible assistance be rendered in this work.

It was decided to allow the request of the Y.W.C.A., that examinations be given in advance of the regular schedule to the Asheville delegates. Accordingly, examinations are to begin to Misses Ellen Bocourau, Stella Burns, Esther Hubbard, and Mary Jasper on Monday and Tuesday, May 31 and June 1. The desirability of limiting the number of delegates from our Y.W.C.A. to Asheville was suggested.

A project to provide a teachers' home at the Mabel Memorial School was spoken of by the President, and a conference of all specially interested was called for tomorrow, Friday, at 5 p.m., in Room 11.

The President urged members of the faculty to be more prompt in writing testimonials, in order that the work of the office be not hindered, and in order that injustice may not be done to our students for whom we are seeking positions. He also urged more promptness in regard to keeping up the correspondence work.

It was announced that the present general board of Trustees has changed the fiscal year so as to make it begin July 1 and end June 30, and certain changes in the issuing of salary checks consequent upon the said change in the fiscal year were outlined.

The President then took up the special subject for which he has called the meeting, namely, the presentation and explanation of the report which he had recently prepared for and submitted to the Board of Trustees. This report covers the entire history of the school, since its establishment by law in 1908, and embodies much information and particular statistics of interest and instructional charaeter. A few of the significant points outstanding in this report (were) are the following:

2,347 different students have been matriculated up to the present time.

The per capita cost for students during the regular session is only $118.64.

The average age of our students is 20 years.

From 10% to 15% of our students do work in the school to pay their expenses in whole or in part.

Only 23.07% of our students are doing high school work.

Of the students admitted the present year, 62% has completed a 4-year high school course.

The school has put special emphasis upon the opportunity ^{that is presented} on all sides for rural service, and has provided from the beginning facilities for its advanced students to do helpful work in the adjacent rural schools.

From the beginning, the practice teaching of our Seniors, together with the observation work of various classes, has been done in the regular schools of the town.

At the end of the reading of his report, the President reads one or two items from the proceedings of the Board of Trustees, which items have a rather particular and significant relation to certain measures already proposed at this school.

idays was again referred to. Misses Ruth Boas and Althea Adams were excused for good reasons. Misses Virginia Wheatly, Ernestine Williams, Lillian Lamb, and Bessie Hogan were not excused: the zeros against them for absences are not to be removed by favor or by extra work.

The President called over the names of the students who are applying for diplomas, with a view to ascertaining whether they have all completed their work satisfactorily or not. Memoranda were entered opposite certain names in accordance with reports made by various instructors.

He also read lists of Juniors and Sophomores who are applying for certificates, and requested that reports on their work be handed in as promptly as possible. He suggested that the various instructors do everything possible and appropriate to encourage the Juniors (and others) to return next session for the completion of their courses.

The program for commencement was gone over, with a view to getting exhibits, etc., in proper order. The usual order of formation of lines for marching to the church and to the theater for the commencement exercises was adopted. Members of the faculty were urged to be present promptly at 8 o'clock, or before, for the reception to the students.

Miss Mackay was also present - during a part of the meeting.
